

Junior Consultant

Our Offer

As a Junior Consultant you will be a fully fledged member of a client project team early on. You will get to know different personalities, industries and business units and experience the variety of working styles and methodologies of Driving Profit, Driving Growth and Driving Excellence. You will work independently on your own module as part of the project where you define structure and work plan, develop hypotheses and approaches. Hereby you will be supported by your project manager and the entire team.

Each Junior Consultant will get a professional development advisor from day one. Together with your project manager, the advisor will give you orientation in the World of the business units of Driving Growth International and support you to get started on your first client projects. Later on the professional development advisor will assist you in all aspects of your professional career development and will act as a regular "sounding board".

You get your daily training on the job from our experienced consultants. Moreover, we offer training programs according to your actual needs in the specific phase of your career.

Our Expectations

Since you will work as Junior Consultant right away on demanding client projects, our expectations are accordingly. You hold a qualified university degree with excellent grades, have completed qualified internships and gained international experience. It is not necessary that you hold a degree in business administration, as long as you have outstanding analytical capabilities and documented interest in business subjects, e.g. with a relevant internship. We expect that you are fluent in English and German spoken and written.

If you think this profile describes you, we are looking forward to your application!
